

Experiences

Traditional Cheese Making

Portugal has a long tradition in cheese making throughout the country. The great diversity of types of cheese and combinations, makes cheese making in Portugal a huge world to explore.

The different regional cheeses can be made from cow, sheep or goat's milk, or the combination of them.

Although the process is more and more industrialized it is still possible to find producers that make their cheese by hand.

In this experience we will visit a traditional cheese factory, to learn the process and taste different cheeses.

This experience may be enjoyed in Alentejo, Ribatejo (centre of Portugal), Douro (north) and Beira Baixa (interior) regions and caters for different numbers of participants.
